THE CORPORATION SEAL BEARS THE NAME OF THE CORPORATION, THE YEAR AND DATE OF THE INCORPORATION OF THE SOCIETY, AND THE NAME OF THE CITY IN WHICH IT IS LOCATED.

TWENTY-NINTH ANNUAL REPORT OF THE HOME FOR AGED COUPLES.

In submitting the twenty-ninth annual report, the President recognizes in the benevolences of the year the blessings of an All-wise Father, and congratulates the Corporation of the Home for Aged Couples upon its continued prosperity, its future prospects for usefulness, and its present high standing among the philanthropic organizations of national reputation.

The events of the year have included many notes of sadness, but the progressive work has not faltered.

The original plans of the management for the improvement of the estate have added largely to its beauty, convenience, and value.

The expense of maintenance has kept pace with the increase of the accommodations; and, unless there is a decrease in the present high cost of living, there can be no reduction in current expenses during the ensuing year. Even greater demands will probably be made upon the resources of the treasury to meet unexpected conditions.

The infirmities of old age, including mental instability, can hardly be reckoned with in advance, neither can the painful situation of the aged couple who are bravely trying to solve the problem of existence for themselves. The time is not far distant when strength and health will fail, the bank account will be closed, the little home will fall into the hands of creditors, and no friend or relative able or willing to give permanent relief.

Fortunate, indeed, will be the aged father and mother for whom the Home for Aged Couples can solve the problem of a pleasant, comfortable home during the afternoon of a well-ordered though financially unsuccessful life.

REVIEW OF THE YEAR.

The twenty-eighth annual meeting of the Corporation of the Home for Aged Couples was held at the Home on Tuesday, Jan. 9, 1912, the President, Dr. Elizabeth Abbott Carleton, in the chair.

Devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. Clarence A. Vincent, D.D., of the Immanuel-Walnut Avenue Congregational Church.

The Secretary, Mrs. Annie C. Hayden, read the minutes of the last annual meeting, which were duly approved by the Corporation.

The Treasurer, Mr. J. W. Smith, presented his annual report, ending Dec. 31, 1911, which was, as usual, interesting, and accepted by unanimous vote.

The Auditor, Arthur Herbert Damon, Esq., read a list of the investments of the Corporation, which were in accordance with the financial statement of the Treasurer. The report was accepted, with thanks for careful auditing of cash and securities by actual count and inspection.

The President read her annual report, reviewing the events of the year, which, carefully recorded, give a reliable history of the Home.

On motion, duly seconded, the report of the President was accepted by a rising vote of thanks.

The report of the Nominating Committee was presented by Rev. Dr. C. A. Vincent, submitting a list of Officers and Trustees for the ensuing year.

The report was accepted, and the former Board of Officers and Trustees were elected by ballot. The business of the meeting being completed, informal remarks, expressing confidence in the future of the Home, were made by several members of the Board.

After the impressive benediction pronounced by Rev. William Copley Winslow, D.D., the meeting adjourned, and many remained to converse with the aged residents, who had dined with the Corporation and been present at the annual exercises.

CORPORATE MEMBERS.

The following officers and members of the Corporation have died during the year 1912:—

Mr. Samuel Newell Brown and Mr. Charles Porter Jaynes, of the Board of Council, and Mrs. Theodore B. Casey, of the Board of Trustees.

SAMUEL NEWELL BROWN.

The following memorial presented by the President was adopted by the Board of Trustees and Council at their regular meeting, held Sept. 8, 1912.

Since the last meeting of the Trustees and Council of the Home for Aged Couples the Home has met with a loss in the death of Samuel Newell Brown, who passed away at his Swampscott residence on July 4, 1912.

Mr. Brown was elected a life member of the Corporation in December, 1898, and was subsequently appointed a member of the Board of Council.

Although not often present at meetings, he was interested in the success of the Home, and with Mrs. Brown was an annual contributor.

RESOLUTIONS.

Resolved, That in the death of Samuel Newell Brown the Trustees and Council recognize the loss of a good citizen, a Christian gentleman, enterprising and successful in business, zealous in his efforts, and conservative in his methods.

Genial in manner and conversation, he made friends and won respect by his integrity and devotion to principle. Mr. Brown loved the House of Worship. As a devoted member of the First Baptist Church, he was loyal to its interests and contributed liberally to its support.

His charities included unmentioned gifts, and many organizations will miss his acceptable remembrances.

Resolved, That in his death we find consolation in the thought that in the golden afternoon of his life he laid down his responsibilities, not as one worn and weary with burdens, but in the fulness of years and the vigor of intellect passed through the "everlasting gates" into the realms of immortality.

Resolved, That this tribute be inserted in the Records and a copy be sent to the family of Mr. Brown, extending the sympathy of the Board of Trustees and Council.

MRS. THEODORE B. CASEY.

At a regular meeting of the Trustees the following minute was adopted:—

Mrs. Janet B. Casey, widow of Theodore B. Casey, died after an illness of several weeks on July 13, 1912, at her seashore residence, Menauhant, Mass. Services and interment on Tuesday, July 16, at Forest Hills Cemetery.

Mrs. Casey's life was active and eventful. Although energetic and practical, she was artistic in temperament, and loved the beautiful in nature and in art.

Through friends she became interested in the Home, and was elected a corporate member in 1901. Subsequently she was elected a member of the Board.

Having many interests which called her frequently from the city, she was not a regular attendant at Board meetings, but in various ways she expressed her interest.

When the new building was ready for its furnishings, she accepted with many others the President's invitation to furnish a room. Her effort to make it attractive as well as comfortable evidenced her ability to do both acceptably.

Mrs. Casey was progressive in thought, warm in her sympathies for the unfortunate, and devoted to her family.

Her associates on the Board of Trustees, recognizing the qualities which won friends in many walks of life, desire to record an expression of their regard in this unanimous tribute to her memory.

CHARLES PORTER JAYNES.

The sudden death touches the heart-key of alarm, and we stand amazed and silent with the vibration.

To-day, monarch-like, we look from the hilltop upon the scene below, regardless of the darkening shadow. Confident and self-assured we plan for the future weal. To-morrow death finds his opportunity, and the lifeless body tells the story of departure.

On Tuesday, Sept. 3, 1912, Mr. Jaynes attended the regular meeting of the Board at the Home for Aged Couples. He came early in the day, visited the several houses of the Home and many of the residents in their rooms, looked over the newly graded grounds, the roadways and pathways, and expressed himself as greatly pleased with the completed improvements, then, as if to emphasize his thought, added, "I cannot see wherein anything could be bettered; and, if any one finds fault in this Home, they are not worthy of it."

On the following Friday, September 6, the newspapers announced the sudden death of Charles P. Jaynes. Without warning the summons came, and the end was peaceful.

Born in New Haven, Conn., Nov. 13, 1845, the son of William C. and Adelpha Fuller Jaynes, the energetic youth at an early age entered a drug-store in his native city. In 1863 he went to New York for a year's experience in a wholesale drug-house, after which he was engaged for twenty-one years in selling to the drug trade all over the country. In 1882 he purchased a small drug store in Boston, corner of Washington and Warrenton Streets, giving his time after a few more months of travel to building up a business for himself. His experience laid the foundation of success. New stores were purchased from time to time, pharmaceutical laboratories were opened, also factories, operated by the Jaynes Manufacturing Company.

Having devoted more than thirty years to the amassing of wealth in the drug business, Mr. Jaynes decided to retire. In March, 1907, he sold out his interests to the Riker Drug Company of New York. His retirement from the drug business, however, did not mean to him a life of leisure, but opportunity to work out problems on different lines of usefulness. He maintained a farm at Lincoln, a seashore residence at Marblehead, and a winter residence at the Canterbury. His ambition for wealth was satisfied, and his kindly nature led him into paths of benevolence. He connected himself with charitable organizations, and they profited by his membership. By his will many of them were remembered by bequest, and ultimately as residuary legatees.

The following tribute, prepared by Rev. C. A. Vincent, D.D., was adopted by the unanimous vote of the Board:—

The Trustees and Council of the Home for Aged Couples wish to put on record an expression of their appreciation of the character and services of Mr. Charles P. Jaynes, who was at the time of his death a member of the Board. During the years which Mr. Jaynes has been a member of the Board he has shown himself a man of well-balanced and fair mind, faithful in the discharge of his responsibilities, interested in the welfare of men and intensely in the work of the Home for Aged Couples, courteous and kindly in his treatment of all, and with a natural love of the beautiful. His worth has more and more appeared to those who have been associated with him, and his departure brings a deep sense of personal sorrow, as well as a sense of loss to the interests of the Home. We would express our sympathy with the family of Mr. Jaynes, and assure them that we rejoice with them in the memories of their loved one and our friend.

MEMBERS OF THE FAMILY

In Remembrance.

MRS. HARRIETT ADAMS FLETCHER, wife of Joseph Merrill Fletcher, formerly of Chelmsford, Mass., died, after a short illness, on the morning of Jan. 30, 1912, in the seventy-seventh year of her age.

Funeral services, conducted by her former pastor and friend, Rev. D. K. Shurtleff, assisted by Rev. Sheed Anderson, were held at the Home on the afternoon of January 31. On the following day the remains, accompanied by her husband and friends, were taken to her former home at Chelmsford for final service and interment in the Fletcher lot.

Mrs. Fletcher was born at Wentworth, N.H., May 18, 1835, and was married to Mr. Fletcher April 28, 1863.

Mrs. Fletcher resided with her husband for more than forty years at the old homestead in Chelmsford, Mass. She was an active member in the Unitarian church, generous, and hospitable.

Her grief over the loss of her home and the memory of old associations, where she had been a leader in church and benevolent work, left wounds too deep for healing. Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher, after the loss of their property, entered the Home for Aged Couples, April 11, 1905.

ARTHUR TAYLOR.

Mr. Taylor was born July 30, 1831. Although not born in the Granite State, he came of good old New Hampshire stock. His father, Ezra Taylor, and his grandfather, Alonzo Taylor, were born in Danbury, N.H.

He came to Boston in early life, and on July 1, 1857, he married Harriet Poole, of Charlestown. One son, born November, 1864, died at the age of ten years.

Mr. Taylor was a provision dealer, quiet, energetic, and successful. Failing in health, his physician advised a change of climate. He reluctantly consented, and went to California, where he resided about fifteen years, losing much financially and gaining little in health. He at last decided to return to Boston, but increasing blindness incapacitated him for business.

Old age, affliction, and poverty were met with sublime courage and unfaltering faith. By the proffered aid of friends Mr. and Mrs. Taylor entered the Home in September, 1910. Mr. Taylor's wish to recover his eyesight was shared by the Board of Trustees.

Treatment at the Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary by skilful surgeons gave little encouragement, and subsequently by advice of Dr. John Morgan, the well-known specialist, Mr. Taylor decided to undergo no further treatment. He was ever cheerful and uncomplaining, and grateful for expressions of sympathy and encouragement. He greatly appreciated the kindness of a lady resident, who, being an excellent reader, refined, and discriminating, entertained him daily with light or serious reading, as he preferred. Frequent walks and trolley rides with Mrs. Taylor were greatly enjoyed.

His death was unexpected. While apparently in usual health, he suddenly passed away on February 22, 1912.

He only looked more pale and thin
And so we let the sunshine in,
But it shone upon the dead.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Dr. Granger, of the Episcopal church, Sharon, Mass., on the afternoon of Saturday, February 24, at two o'clock. Interment, Forest Hills Cemetery, Barberry Path.

MRS. FRANCES W. THOMPSON, widow of Miles Thompson, died on Wednesday morning, May 1, 1912, in the seventy-seventh year of her age. Mrs. Thompson was born in Boston, Nov. 4, 1834, and was married to Miles Thompson in Boston, Aug. 28, 1855.

Mr. Thompson was a carpenter and builder, and a worthy, upright citizen, but unfortuate in financial affairs. Mr. and Mrs. Thompson were members of the Warren Street Methodist Church, and, when verging on old age, childless, alone, and without means, their friends gave the needed aid, and they entered the Home for Aged Couples in April, 1901.

Mrs. Thompson was a pleasant member of the family. Quiet, reticent, and sensible, with good feeling for all, she made no trouble for herself or for others.

Her death followed an attack of paralysis. After a short illness she passed away at nine o'clock on May 1. Funeral service was conducted by Rev. J. P. Chadbourne at the Home on May 3, at 11 A.M. Interment in the Thompson lot, Mistletoe Path, Forest Hills Cemetery.

OLIVER GERRY PEARSON,

the son of Elbridge Gerry Pearson and Mary Pillsbury Questrom Pearson, was born at Lynn, Oct. 29, 1836. The childhood and youth of Oliver Pearson was pleasant and promising. His father was a native of Newburyport, Mass., and his mother, the daughter of Thomas P. Frothingham, of Lynn.

Mr. Pearson was married to Caroline Augusta Pearson, Nov. 27, 1858, by Rev. E. T. Brooks, of Lynn. They resided on Silsbee Street, the well-known residence of the family. For many years Mr. Pearson was a railroad and steamship agent in Boston.

Through a peculiar mortgage on the property, their home was in litigation for more than thirteen years. In March, 1909, the claimants took matters into their own hands, seized the furniture, and left Mr. Pearson with an invalid wife to do whatever he could. They had spent all their money in litigation, and could no longer resist those who claimed the property at a small valuation. As the property has since been sold for more than fifty thousand dollars, the loss to Mr. Pearson is painfully apparent. When all was gone, the Home for Aged Couples complied with the wish of friends and opened the door of welcome to the gentle, well-bred couple,—always the right persons in the right place.

Mr. Pearson is greatly missed. He was a well-bred gentleman, of kindly nature, and always ready to lend a helping hand upon all occasions. He belonged to Mt. Carmel Lodge of Masons, and was an active member of the Universalist church.

After coming to the Home, he attended the church on Buena Vista Street, Rev. J. Harry Holden, pastor, and seldom missed a Sunday service. He always attended Sunday services at the Home, and extended a welcome to all clergymen who came. On Friday, Aug. 16, 1912, he was seized with an apoplectic attack, from which he never entirely recovered consciousness.

On the following Monday he passed peacefully into sleep at six o'clock in the afternoon.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. J. Harry Holden on Thursday, August 22, at two o'clock. A delegation of Masons from Mt. Carmel Lodge were present and many business men whom he knew in his days of prosperity. Beautiful flowers spoke silently in remembrance. Interment in the family lot at Lynn. Mr. Pearson leaves an invalid wife, a sweet and gentle lady, to mourn his loss, in which she has many sympathizers.

MRS. RUTH AUSTIN LEONARD, wife of Frederick Seth Leonard, passed away, after a brief illness, on Monday, Dec. 9, 1912. She had been in failing health for many months, and on Friday, December 6, while seemingly as well as usual, fell into a state of unconsciousness too profound for earthly waking.

Funeral services were held at the Home on December 12, the Rev. Edward Tillotson, formerly connected with St. Paul's Cathedral, officiating. Floral emblems were laid on the casket by old friends, who came to express their love and sympathy for the bereaved husband and widowed daughter. Interment in the family lot at Mt. Auburn.

Mrs. Leonard, nee Hammond, was born at Ossipee, N.H., Aug. 8, 1829. Her father was a prominent man in the town and county, and Mrs. Leonard had the advantages of good society in addition to educational opportunities. To live on the hills of New Hampshire means health, strength, and individuality, all of which her life-work proves she had to a remarkable degree.

Mrs. Leonard was married to Frederick S. Leonard in May, 1853. Two children blessed the union, one son, who died in 1901, and a widowed daughter, whose frequent visits to her mother were a source of happiness to both.

Mrs. Leonard's life was eventful, but, in whatever place she was called to act, she was ever the intelligent woman, the well-bred, high-minded lady. She instinctively knew how to conform to adverse circumstances gracefully.

In the Civil War, having means to aid and the will to do, she found her time fully occupied in performing patriotic service. Mrs. Leonard made the first flag for the Fifteenth (15th) Massachusetts Regiment, her brother-in-law, Samuel H. Leonard, being colonel of that regiment; but, the ladies of the Dudley Street Baptist Church having presented a flag to that regiment, she presented her flag to the Seventeenth (17th) Regiment, of which General Devens was then colonel.

Mrs. Leonard made with her own hands thirty-six flags, but her patriotic work was not confined to the making of flags: it extended from New Orleans to Gettysburg, and ended only when the war was over.

Mr. Leonard was formerly manager and superintendent of Leonard's Express, but, failing in health, he sold out to Adams Express. With change of fortune, Mrs.

Leonard turned her knowledge and semi-public experience into good account. She assumed, with her husband, the management of the Hotel Kempton, corner of Newbury and Berkeley Streets, Boston, where they resided for twenty-five years. Although successful in business, they failed, through attempting to retrieve former losses, by speculation. Feebleness and advancing years precluding the idea of further activities, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard decided that a residence at the Home for Aged Couples would not only ensure them quiet and rest, but the refined comforts to which they had been accustomed.

In youth she sowed with generous hand,
And in old age gathered the flowers.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

and thanks are extended to the Young Men's Christian Union; to Dr. John Dixwell for Musical Fund Service; to Rev. D. W. Waldron for Easter musical service; to the Traveler-Herald for automobile ride to Wellesley, enjoyed by twenty-five of the family; and to Mr. Martin L. Cate for their delightful entertainment at his residence; also to Mr. Isaac L. Rich, of the Hollis Street Theatre, for forty orchestra tickets for matinée, which were greatly appreciated.

To the several clergymen who have administered to the afflicted and officiated on solemn occasions; to Dr. Edward N. Libby, whose professional calls not only alleviate pain, but bring consolation and encouragement; also to friends who have remembered the Home with readings, music, books, flowers, and magazines.

Courtesies from the press of Boston, the New York Post, and other newspapers outside the city are gratefully acknowledged. Newspapers from the office of publication are much appreciated.

Many donations of value have been received for the new building, among which we mention with pleasure the furnishing of a memorial room by Mrs. John W. Storer, also by the same generous donor a fine new piano for the music-room; two fine steel engravings from Mr. and Mrs. John Shepard; a valuable oil painting from Colonel Ezra O. Swift, executor of the Julia A. Champlin estate; and a wheel-chair from the estate of Mrs. T. B. Casey. On Patriots' Day the family were remembered by Mrs. J. H. Cunningham, and at Thanksgiving by Mrs. Oliver Ames.

DONATION WEEK

was kindly remembered by many friends. The cash donations amounted to $945. Two gifts of one hundred dollars each from Mrs. Edwin Rice and Mr. Erastus B. Badger came too late to be entered on the Treasurer's report for 1912. The names of donors, with amount of donations, will be found under the head of "Cash Donations for the Year 1912."

As many of our old friends and contributors have died or removed their residence, we hope new friends will become interested in the Home and gladly take an active interest in its affairs.

The progressive work of the Home adds largely to its annual expenses. Therefore, we must frequently remind the friends interested in its welfare that the Home depends principally upon legacies for its permanent investments, and from its investments must come the reliable income for the maintenance of the Home, which will average in the near future about one hundred in family. More than two thousand meals per week. Surely, no stronger appeal can be made for gifts, donations, and annual subscriptions than a simple statement of facts.

Referring to daily expenses, we may mention that the Home has ample storage, and would be extremely grateful to be generously remembered by those who have vegetables and fruit in abundance.

THIRTY YEARS AGO.

In the month of January, 1883, the Association now known as the Home for Aged Couples was organized by Dr. Elizabeth Abbott Carleton in the parlors of her residence at 30 Union Park. The treasury at the close of the meeting represented sixteen dollars. From that small and insignificant beginning the Home has grown in height and breadth and strength, until to-day its three fine buildings and well-kept grounds tell the story of its present prosperity.

The Home has never received aid from city or State. It has never employed agents or given commissions. Its affairs are managed by a governing board, elected annually by the Corporation in a legal manner; and it has grown steadily year after year, as honest men gain wealth,—by constant effort, economy, punctuality, and never failing to meet obligations.

INCORPORATION.

The Home was incorporated under the laws of Massachusetts May 29, 1884. In less than two weeks after receiving the charter the estate on Blackstone Square, 431 Shawmut Avenue (then a desirable location), was purchased in the name of the Corporation, opened, and dedicated, Governor George D. Robinson, Governor Oliver Ames, and Rev. L. B. Baldwin, rector of St. Mark's Church, accepting invitations to take part in the public exercises, which were opened by the President of the Corporation, Dr. Elizabeth Abbott Carleton.

The Home soon outgrew its accommodations, and, free from all encumbrance, was removed to its present delightful location in May, 1887.

In May, 1892, after cancelling the mortgage on the present estate, ground was broken for the brick building fronting on Walnut Avenue, opposite Franklin Park. In 1893 the house was dedicated, "free from debt, mortgage, or encumbrance whatsoever," and from that time—twenty years—the Home has never contracted a debt for which it could not make a cash payment.

In May, 1910, ground was broken for the new building fronting on Columbus Avenue. The corner-stone was laid with religious ceremonies in September, and in the following year, October, 1911, the building was formally dedicated. Ceremonies reported in last annual report. As there was much to be done after the building was delivered to the Home by the contractors, necessitating the employment of a variety of workmen, it was deemed advisable not to open the building for the occupancy of aged people until a few months later.

The improvements made during the last two years, which include the erection of the new building and the laying out of the grounds and driveways, are very satisfactory, and add much to the attractiveness of the Home and the refinements of life.

During the coming year, improvements are to be made upon the interior of the mansion, and much of the business which has been done elsewhere will be transacted at the Home.

Other improvements looking beyond material welfare require consideration. In the near future, unless some kind friend, realizing the need, becomes a generous donor, a call must be made upon the treasury of the Home for the purchase of a burial lot, either at Mt. Hope or Forest Hills Cemetery.

The present Home lot (six hundred feet) on Elmwood Avenue, Mt. Hope, which was purchased by the Corporation in 1889, is now closed, except for four places, reserved for the interment of the surviving husband or wife.

Another need makes its own earnest appeal. A year ago the mansion-house parlors met the requirements of Sunday and other services in a fairly comfortable manner, but with the increase of the family the accommodations of the parlor "meeting-room" are insufficient.

The Home recognizes the influence of spiritual instruction and the great need of a consecrated chapel,—a House of Worship,—where religious services would be held regularly on the Sabbath and on other occasions, according to the requirements of the family.

Such a building would be a fount of joy to the spiritual-minded,—sacred to memorable events and a quiet retreat for daily prayer and meditation.

Old age wearies of much entertainment, but it yearns for the inspired word and the spiritual atmosphere of the House of Worship.

As many noble-minded women have contributed largely to the permanent support of the Home, are there not other women, blessed with abundant means, who will count it a privilege to build in HIS NAME a memorial chapel for the benefit of the many who will come year after year to the Home for Aged Couples?

ELIZABETH ABBOTT CARLETON,

President.

SEC. 3. SEC. 6. If couples are dismissed from the Home within three months after admission, whatever they have paid to the Corporation will be returned to them, after deducting a reasonable amount for their support and expenses while in the Home. Any inmate after admission who shall become so diseased in mind as to seriously interfere with the comfort and health of other inmates, upon the advice of the physicians of the Home, shall be returned to friends or removed to some suitable institution. The Corporation shall not be held liable for the support of such person or persons after their removal from the Home.

SEC. 9. All cases of illness in the Home shall be attended by the Physicians of the institution, unless the Trustees see fit to call in other or additional advice.

In case of death, the funeral arrangements will be under the direction of the Trustees, unless friends of the deceased wish to remove the remains and assume the payment of funeral expenses.

SEC. 10. Inmates receiving the benefits of the Home will be required to comply with the rules and regulations which are now in force, and which may hereafter be adopted by the Trustees for the health, comfort, and safety of the family and the permanent interest of the Home.

16. When inmates desire to visit their friends, they shall inform the Superintendent of the time and place of their intended visit, and the probable length of time they will be absent, in order that no uneasiness may be felt on their account, and that, in case of illness or accident, the Superintendent may know where they are to be found.
